

About Chris Suchan

I have been dancing for over 20 years and teaching since the age of 16. I just recently came off of the Broadway National Tour of The Pajama Game where I was in the ensemble and the dance captain. I was also the Associate Choreographer for the Tour. I have also traveled with the Broadway National Tour of The Producers, where I was the male swing and dance captain, the National Tour of Crazy for You, as Billy, and with the Moscow Company of 42nd Street.

I am originally from the Washington DC area where I grew up competing in all forms of dance. Through the years I have received many prestigious awards including "Mr. Dreamseeker", "Choreographer of the Year", and numerous high score titles. I have also been a member of many DC based dance companies including Dancin' Unlimited, Stage Crew, and Jazz Danz DC. I have taken Master Classes from some of the greatest performers of all time including Gwen Verdon, Ann Reinking, and Ben Vereen. I have also taught Master Classes at over 40 studios nationwide and in Canada.

As a choreographer I just took on my biggest project The Producers which I also directed at Toby's Dinner Theatre in Columbia, MD. Other shows I have choreographed include Once Upon A Mattress, Grease, and The Unsinkable Molly Brown. I also co-choreographed Bandstand 2000 which received a Helen Hayes nomination for Choreography. I have taught classes at studios in Maryland, Virginia, and New Jersey. I am also a judge for Regional and National Dance Competitions across the country.
