

Michelle Labriola

Michelle started out in gymnastics when she was four years old but quickly realized her true love was dance. She has training and performance experience in ballet, tap, jazz, lyrical, musical production and hip hop. She danced on the HeartBeats competition teams throughout high school which included performances at Disney World and Universal Studios, Florida. At the same time she assisted with the younger competitive team. While attending George Mason University, Michelle took various dance classes including different styles in tap and jazz. While in school she also began teaching pre-ballet, ballet, tap and jazz classes at HeartBeats. Michelle is currently teaching in the Fairfax County School System while pursuing her Masters in Elementary Education at GMU.
